The law I have just signed was + passed to put people back to work-to let them buy more of the products of farms and factories and start our business at a living rate again. This task is in two stages-first, to get many hundreds of thousands of the unemployed back on the pay roll by snowfall and second, to plan for a better future for the longer pull. While we shall not neglect the second, the first stage is an emergency job. It has the right-of-way.

The second part of the act gives employment by a vast pro-gram of public works. Our studies show that we should be able to hire many men at once and to step up to about a million new jobs by October 1, and a much greater number later. We must put at the head of our list those works which are fully ready to start now. Our first purpose is to create employment as fast as we can but we should not pour money into unproved projects. We have worked out our plans for action. Some of it will start tomorrow. I am making available to start building ships under the

It seems to me to be equally plain that no business which depends for existence on paying less than living wages to workers has any right to continue in this country. By "busi-ness" I mean the whole of commerce as well as the whole of industry; by workers I mean all workers—the white collar class well as the men in overalls; and by living wages I mean more mean the wages of decent living. Throughout industry, the change from starvation wages and starvation employment to living wages and sustained employment can, in large part, be made by an industrial covenant to which all employers shall subscribe. It is greatly to their in-terest to do this because decent living, widely spread among our 125,000,000 people eventually means the opening up to indus-try of the richest market which sage of this act, no such industrial covenant was possible.

On this idea, the first part of the act proposes to our industry a great spontaneous co-operation to put mil-lions of men back in their regular jobs this summer. The idea is simply for employers to hire more men to do the existing work by reducing the work-hours of each man's week and at the same time paying a living wage for the shorter week.

No employer and no group of less than all employers in a single trade could do this alone and continue to live in business competition. But if all employers in each trade now band themselves faithfully in these modern guilds-without exception-and agree to act together and at once, none will be hurt and millions of workers, so long deprived of the right to earn their bread in the sweat of their labor, can raise their heads again. The challenge of this law is whether we can sink selfish interest and present a solid front against a common peril. Challenge to Industry.

It is a challenge to industry which has long insisted that, given the right to act in unison, it could do much for the general good which has hither-to been unlawful. From today it has that right.

Many good men voted this charter with misgivings. I do not share these doubts. I had part in the great co-operation of 1917 and 1918 and it is my faith that we can count on our industry once more to join in our general purpose to lift this new threat and to do it without taking any advantage of the public trust which has this day been deposed without stint in the good faith and high purpose of American business. But industry is challenged in an other way. It is not only the slack-ers within trade groups who may four years in behalf of industrial for exactly the same reason that no planning, stood at Mr. Roosevelt's elsingle employer can do it alone. In other words, we can imagine such a thing as a slacker industry.

Two Boards.

Two boards—composed chiefly of cabinet members—were named to help new charter of rights long sought and would be functioning within 20 days.
Senator Carter Glass, foremost congressional authority on financial matters, was behind Mr. Roosevelt's chair when the Glass-Steagall bank reform bill was signed.

The measure establishes partial and especially of their own workers. This is not a law to forment discord and it will not be executed as such. This is a time for mutual confidence mercial banking houses to divorce themselves from their investment affiliates within one year. It has been dodging in and out of congress for months, and only now has won sufficient support to become law.

"This bill," Mr. Roosevelt said, "has more lives than a cat. A cat has to men.

and help and we can sately rely on the senate of fair play among all Americans to assure every industry which now moves forward promptly in this united drive against depression that its workers will be with it to a man.

It is, further, a challenge to administration. We are relaxing some of the safeguards of the anti-trust laws. The public must be protected against the abuses that led to their enactment, and to this end, we are putting in place of old principles of unchecked competition some new government controls. They must above all be impartial and just. Their purpose is to free business—not to shackle it—and no man who stands on the constructive forward-looking side of his industry has anything to fear from them. To such men the opportunities for individual initiative will open more amply than ever. Let me make it clear, however, that the anti-trust laws still stand firmly against monopolies that restrain trade and price fixing which allows inordinate profits or unfairly high prices.

Johnson Named.

Under title 1 of this act, I have appointed Hugh Johnson as administrator and a special industrial recovery board under the chairmanship of the secretary of commerce. This or anization is now prepared to receive proposed codes and to conduct prompt hearings looking toward their submission to me for approval. While acceptable proposals of no trade group will be delayed, it is my hope that the major industrial employment can submit their simple basic codes forward to the month of July as the beginning of our great national mook forward to the month of July as the beginning of our great national mook forward to the month of July as the beginning of our great national mook forward to the month of July as the beginning of our great national mook forward to the month of July as the beginning of our great national mook forward to the month of July as the beginning of our great national mook forward to the month of July as the beginning of our great national mook forward to the month of July as the beginning of our gr

If we ask our trade groups to do that which exposes their business, as never before, to undermining by members who are unwilling to do their parts, we must guard those who play for the game the general good against for the game the general good against those who may seek selfish gains from the unselfishness of others. We must protect them from the racketeers who invade organizations of both employ-ers and workers. We are spending billions of dollars and if that spendbillions of dollars and it that speaking is really to serve our ends it must be done quickly. We must see that our haste does not permit favoritism and graft. All this is a heavy load for any government and one that can be borne only if we have the patience, co-operation and support of people everywhere.

Einally, this law is a challenge to our whole people. There is no power in America that can force against the public will such action as we require. But there is no group in America that can withstand the force of an aroused public opinion. This great co-operation can succeed only if those who bravely go forward to restore jobs have aggressive public support and those who lag are made to feel the full weight of public disapproval.

Stabilization Measure.

He said the measure "represents a supreme effort to stabilize for all time the many factors which make for the prosperity of the nation, and the preservation of American standards."

President Roosevelt also appointed two cabinet advisory boards to work with the administrators. To advise Johnson he selected Secretary Roper as chairman, Attorney-General Cummings, and Secretaries Wallace, Perkins, Ickes, Lewis W. Douglas, director of the budget, and Chairman March, of the federal trade commission. Society always has and perhaps always will grant men privileges that it denies to women. Men are forgiven "indiscretions" that would ruin a girl beyond all hope of redemption. It isn't fair, but that's the way is and there's nothing you can do about it. But you can do something to safeguard yourself. You and every other decent girl can require the same degree of honor that is required

To say there are no clean young men is a confession of ignorance. It is on a par with the malicious charge that chastity mong women is a thing of the past. The people who say these things speak without knowledge or else they are unfortunate in their choice of acquaintances. But continent young men are relatively few, and the percentage with no experience of disease is not large. One New York medical official asserts that 90 per cent of men under 45 are now or at some time have been diseased. How true that is I do not know. But I do know that many men are brutal enough to marry despite disease, and their wives endure major operations or life-long agony as a result. Shame hides the truth, but can't hide the malformed and imbecile children.

I had rather see you in your coffin, my dear, than to see you at the altar for a marriage like that. A girl has only one safeguard. The boy who asks her to marry him present a health certificate from her family physician and another from a reputable physician. If he doesn't offer such proof of his fitness, she should demand it before giving her answer.

It is better to risk offending a loved one than to have your own love destroyed by shame and endless suffering.

Greta Garbo may have a new leading man in the person of a sleek, dark young chap you scarcely know. His name is Victor Jory and he had a small part in "State Fair." He had a large part in "I Loved You Wednesday" with Elissa Landi and Warner Baxter and he may go right on and on.

Dorothea Wieck, first of this group to arrive, is an Ageless Ethereal type, exquisitely beautiful and repressed.

Two 18-year-old veterans of the New York footlights followed her. Grace Bradley and Judith Allen. Grace Bradley is another version of Clara Bow—flaming red hair and lots of what-it-takes, Judith Allen looks like Diana and acts like Bernhardt, I am told—and that is a bill to fill. Along came statuesque Elizabeth "Anyhoooo," Garbo asked for him and the executives are flying around like little mad things trying to get the arrangements made. And if and the arrangements made. And if and how and when he can be allowed off the Fox lot to do the job, the trade will be made, and so will Le Jory, for every one of Garbo's leading men become famous overnight, Myrna Loy, who has worked stead-ily 44 out of the 52 weeks, came into Jesse Lasky's office and explained to him that she thought she should rest him that she thought she should rests rather than play the role of 'The Worst Woman in Paris.' It seems the choice now has narrowed down to Peggy Hopkins Joyce, Kay Francis, Miriam Hopkins and Carole Lombard, with La Joyce well in the lead. Mary Astor is being considered for the second feminine lead and I go on record right here and now to say that this is a most satisfactory player. that this is a most satisfactory player who never fails to give an intelligent and satisfying performance.

Hopes for Cutting Pneumonia Toll SELF-CONTROL SOUGHT

Rest in New Serum, A.M.A. Is Told

MILWAUKEE, June 16.—(P)—
The possibility of cutting in half the death rate from at least one of the four major types of pneumonia by injection of serum into the veins of patients was announced today before the American Medical Association.

Results of two years of experiments to learn the practical value of the serum treatment for pneumonia, which outranks all other infectious diseases except tuberculosis as a cause of death among people in early adult life, were reported by Drs. Gaylord Anderson and Roderick Heffron, of Boston, Mass. The tests were made to determine advisability of continuing promote of the serum, usually made from the blood of horses by an expensive process.

The study showed that there were less than half as many deaths among patients treated with the serum for Type 1 pneumonia as among patients treated with the serum for Type 1 pneumonia as among patients treated with the serum for Type 1 pneumonia as among patients treated with the serum for Type 2, but did not produce so great a reduction in deaths. The serum is manufactured by the Massachusetts state department of bealth.

The serum offers the only practical method of controlling pneumonia, which outranks all other infectious diseases except tuberculosis as a cause of death.

The extended that the cases of pneumonia in young people are Type 1 or Type 2, so it is advised that the serum be given even before it is determined what type has attacked a patient. It must be given within the first four days of the disease as it is of little value after that time, when the disease has become more firmly entenched.

The serum tests were made through the same proved that the serum is manufactured by the Massachusetts state department of health.

Leading Producers To Place Business in Hands of Powerful Boards.

labor would make an eight-hour day and a six-day week mandatory. A number of the manufacturers said that wage increases of approximately 10 per cent would result, as well as a spread of employment. The 17 states represented by the manufacturers who met here would be divided into seven regions for ad-ninistration of the code. Committees on co-ordination, labor and production control would do the work.

The code would require producers to report upon the amount of timber available to them, their orders, shipments, production, hours of mill work and number of employes and the time they were worked. From these and other reports, the committee would determine how much hardwood should be cut and then prorate the quota for each producer. Until consumption becomes larger than demand, the producers would be prohibited from enlarging their plants or increasing the units of production. No changes in plants would be permitted without the written permission of the governing committees and no increase in production would be permitted without employment of additional labor in ratio to the former production and employment.

The states represented by the mancommittee would determine how much production and employment.

The states represented by the manufacturers here are: Texas, Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama, Arkansas, Missouri, Oklahoma, Florida, Georgia, Tennessee, Kentucky South Carolina, North Carolina, Virginia, West Virginia, Pennsylvania and Maryland.

Mr. Harry Mehre, of Athens, Here for Annual Buying

Mr. Harry Mehre, the well-known buyer for the U. G. A. A., Inc., at Athens, Ga., was in the city Friday to do his fall buying. The football players at Georgia next fall will wear the oldfashioned red shirts, the historic Georgia color.

Mr. Mehre revealed that his squad is the most intelligent he ever had. Not a man was required to come back to summer school. Which means that they all passed their final exams and will enter school next fall without the shadow of impending ineligibility.

This is really too bad as it means that Mr. Mehre will have to start his fall worrying a week or so early. Usually he had a few boys in summer school and he worried so much about them that when fall came he was right down to the pink of condition in so far as worrying went. He could worry without getting winded.

Mr. Mehre sat with Coach W. A. Alexander at the ball game Friday. The Georgia Tech coach does not yet know about the intelligence of his football squad. He will not get the final figures from the Georgia Tech faculty until next week. Meanwhile he is not worrying. As they sat watching the game a young lady came in wear

"Look," said Mr. Pete Bonner, who was sitting with the two coaches, "there is a young lady wearing pants." "They are much more sensible than dresses," said Mr. Alexander who did not even turn to look at the young lady. Mr. Alexander never looks at a lady twice for the simple reason that he does not look at one once if he can help it. 'Then you approve of Miss Marlene Dietrich?" asked Mr. Mehre.

"I never heard of her," he said, "but if she wears pants she

A BUST ON THE JAW DESTROYS LOGIC.

It probably makes very little difference to Max Adelbert Baer who wins the coming contest between Jack Sharkey and Because Max Adelbert figures to outhit either one of them. The new heavyweight sensation, who is to appear in Atlanta June 26, is hoping for a fall shot at the winner.

The winner—ah, yes—the winner. Will it be Primo Carnera, the huge hulk of a man? Or will Sharkey duplicate his victory of two years ago when he floored the big fellow and went on to win a 15-round decision by a margin as wide as you'd care to see?

The Baer victory over Max Schmeling convinced some of the skeptics of the difficulty of picking the winner of one of these heavyweight battles. You may scratch your skull all you will, but has Sharkey become a hollow shell or is he still a stout and sturdy boxer, able to go the route? Has the big oaf, Primo Carnera, come forward as fast as he indicated he had in his last battle

Carnera would be a great fighter if he'd learn to shorten his punches. They say he has. He has to shorten them to get inside. His punches had no snap

He will tower over Sharkey, will outweigh him about 60 pounds, will have more reach.

Sharkey is smarter, will make Carnera look ridiculous at times, will be able to get inside him and hit. But Sharkey is getting old as athletes go. Is he the celebrated hollow shell they said Dempsey Philadelphia?

You pick the winner. It should be Sharkey, based on logic, but where does logic go when one gets busted in the jaw?

I saw the first fight, watched Sharkey floor the big fellow and then go raging about the ring when Carnera rose up and then dropped back to one knee. It should have been disqualification, but Gunboat Smith refused. Sharkey tried to quit the ring, but was shoved back by his manager, fat Johnny Buckley. The outraged Bostonian returned to win the decision.

Early in the fight he was a bit timid about Carnera. No good fighter had met the big Italian before. He had knocked over set-ups and that sort of thing. But all the good boys had

SHARKEY NEVER DODGES.

You may say this for the Sharkey person. He never dodges. He took Harry Wills when all others were giving him the dodge. He goes ahead and takes a chance. He met Mickey Walker when other heavyweights were a bit dubious about Mickey's power. He took on Carnera.

But a year ago he shuffled through the last five rounds of his fight with Schmeling, sticking out a left and piling up points. He was a tired, tired man at the finish. But he had won the decision.

Sharkey proved that night that Schmeling was no real Because Schmeling was afraid, or unwilling, to tear in and fight those last five rounds. He had a tired, legweary man in front of him. But he did nothing, not even in the final round, which Sharkey won, to show that he was a

And so the wonder grows. If he was tired in 1932, what will he do in 1933 with the big, club-fisted Carnera whaling away at him?

There is no need to apply logic: Max Schmeling should have beaten Max Baer by all the rules of handicapping. And yet where does form and wisdom and ring lore go when one gets busted on the chops?

Why, right out the window, of course.

But Max Adelbert figures to beat the winner. He has logic in the explosive right and left-hand blows. Neither Sharkey nor Carnera has that.

LESLIE CLOUTS HOMER TO BEAT GIANTS IN DUEL

Former New Yorker Leads Dodgers to Victory; Score Is 3-1.

NEW YORK, June 16 .- (AP)-With NEW YORK, June 16.—(B)—With Sam Leslie setting the pace against his former teammates, the Brooklyn Dedgers today defeated the league-leading New York Giants, 3 to 1, in a pitching duel between Van Mungo and Hal Schumacher and Adolfo Luque. The victory was the Dodgers' third triumph in 10 games with their interbarger winds.

Luque. The victory was the Dodgers' third triumph in 10 games with their interborough rivals.

Leslie, traded yesterday in the deal that sent Frank O'Doul and Watson Clark to the Giants, drove in two runs to supply Max Carey's team with its margin of victory. His long fly in the sixth sent Danny Taylor across the plate with the Dodgers' second tally and his homer off Luque in the ninth produced the third run.

The eight hits the Giants got off Mungo were two more than the Dodgers got off Schumacher and Luque, but Brooklyn's speed-ball artist was effective in the pinches, striking out six as compared to one by Schumacher. Luque pitched the last two innings after Schumacher had been lifted for a pinch hitter.

Bill Terry, the Giants manager, was the only New Yorker to successfully solve Mungo's delivery. He made three of his team's hits, one of them a double, but Travis Jackson saved the Giants from a shutout. After Davis and Mancuso had singled in the ninth, Jackson drove out a long fly to score the former.

Lefty O'Doul got into the game as a pinch hitter for Schumacher in the seventh, but grounded out.

It was their ninth triumph in 12 games with the Pittstes this season.

Guy Bush shut out the Pirates until two were out in the ninth when Earl Grace doubled and scored Gus Suhr, who also had doubled.

Kremer, Harris and Hoyt succeeded Swift on the mound for Pittsburgh and only Harris was effective, holding the Cubs to one single in three innings. The Chicagons piled up 14 hits off the other trio.

Frank Demaree hit a home run off Kremer with two on in the third inning, his second circuit clout in two days. Hendrick, English and Billy Herman also helped the Cub attack with three hits aplece.

Jensen and Grace each got two of the Pirates seven hits. Jensen was playing instead of Freddle Lindstrom, who was been ched by Manager Gibson because of his light hitting.

The Memphis veteran, and he isn't the oldest guy you can think of at that, went through his stock act at Poncey park yesterday when he doled out four solitary singles to a ball club which had won five straight, in pitching a 6-0 shutout.

It seems that the only way Atlanta can ever get anywhere with Memphis is to take out an injurction segment.

is to take out an injunction against Kelly pitching. In the last series with the Chicks, here. Atlanta won two of the games, only to lose the third and final to Kelly. His act is becoming ancient, to say the least. ANDY NOT BAD.

To say that Kelly's glove would have beaten the Crackers sans Kelly yesterday may be questioned some-what on the grounds that Andy Mes-senger, pitching for Atlanta, gave the compact Chickasaw righthander a swell battle of it for five innings.

swell battle of it for five innings.

Andy was giving away a few more base hits as he went, 'tis true, but he was making a fight of it just the same. The Chicks couldn't score off his side-arm and underhand stuff until the sixth. In that inning they got two runs and while hope springs eternally in the hearts of Cracker fans, they were about ready to pay off on Kelly then and there.

The Chicks were aided in crashing through on Messenger by what was not exactly brilliant defensive work on the part of the Crackers. Peck (Bad Boy) Hamel, the toughest man in the Memphis batting order to pitch to, was disposed of by Messenger, as first up in the sixth and things appeared just about as they should be peared just about as they should be But the blond Andy Reese reached him for a hard single to center. LONDON, June 16 .- (A)-For the first time since she was stripped of all her overseas possessions after the World War, Germany officially asked and took the set and match. On the whole, the champion played a good game, serving and volleying well and showing remarkable steadiness on his backhand. Courts' shots seemed to lack their usual sting, he failed to maintain good length to his ground strokes and he did not come up to the net as often as usual.

ANXIETY INCREASES

FOR WIFE OF MATTERN

WALLA WALLA, Wash., June 16.

(P)—The anxiety of Mrs. Jimmie Mattern increased today as no word came concerning her husband, daring round-the-world flyer.

"We fliers' wives never give up hope," she said, "but he's been unreported such a long time now."

Her vigil, begun nearly two weeks ago at the home of a sister when her husband took off from New York, has found her previously confident at all times of his ability to "pull through."

day they would accept no reduction in wages and characterized the roads' demand for a 22-1-2 per cent slice as "just a bluff."

Going even further, Chairman Alexander A. F. Whitney, of the Railway Labor Executives' Association, declared he expected a 10 per cent deduction from pay envelopes to be discontinued next November 1. "I doubt whether the unions ever will be called upon seriously to accept such a cut," Whitney said. "About 90 per cent of the railroads probably will be patriotic enough to go along with President Roosevelt's program of maintaining wages. "The present 10 per cent deduction, to which it is now suggested by the carriers a 12-1-2 per cent deduction, to which it is now suggested by the carriers a 12-1-2 per cent deduction, to which it is now suggested by the carriers a 12-1-2 per cent deduction, to which it is now suggested by the carriers a 12-1-2 per cent deduction from pay envelopes to be discontinued next November 1. Although not commenting officially on Whitney's statement, executives of major railroad lines indicated they would grant no concessions in their demand that the 10 per cent deduction be replaced with a 22 1-2 permanent reduction "and thus bring the wage level more into line with the present cost of living and the levels of other industries."

Edward Newton, famous as a book collector and humorous commentator on life and letters, begins a delightful article in the June Atlantic Monthly. "Vienna and I," by paying this graceful tribute to his Viennese mother-inlaw, and incidentally to his wife. "Now were a man to come to me for advice, I would say: "If you are marrying for the long pull, look the girl's mother over very carefully, and if you like what you see and can't possibly control your emotions, go ahead." This, at any rate, is the advice I gave myself, and I do not regret taking it. A more amiable, generous, and charmaderics are the pleasant prospect of eating good dinners the rest of his life, he may even marry her. It is not exclusively the food that beguiles him. The food is the means of bringing them together in an easy, comfortable cameraderie. The food sets the stage, creates a cozy atmosphere in which friendship frequently ripens into smatch themselves known to his associates, so in housekeeping all a woman's characteristics make themselves known to his associates, so in housekeeping all a woman's characteristics make themselves known to the satisfactory to his view. Just as in business or in a profession all a man's characteristics make themselves known to his associates, so in housekeeping all a woman's characteristics make themselves known to those that sit down to her dinner table. If she is neat and dainty, her table will tell it. If she is slovenly and slatternly the table will betray her. No man coming a-courting will expect her daughter to be different. For the early years are the formative years and a girl raised in a home where food is unedible, where the niceties and elegancies of life are disregarded, is more than apt to grow to womanhood with a similar attitude toward her own home. more amiable, generous, and charming woman never lived than my mother in-law—and she was a Viennese. Here is an intellectual of the intellectuals takes note of two age-old ideas that the sophisticates have long since laughed out of court. Perhaps, after all, they contain deep wisdom that defies time and higher education: "Like mother like daughter." "The way to a man's heart is through his stomach." The scientists have never been able to get around heredity and environment, nor the psychologists around the simple fact that a man is primarily an animal, vicious and uncontrollable when he is hungry, and mild and docile when he is well-fed.

The old Greeks included cookery in their list of cultural arts. One writer, Plutarch, wrote four books of "Table Talk." Xenophon represents Socrates inquiring of Critobulus, "is domestic management the name of an art as that of healing or of working in brass, or of building?" And Critobulus replies: "It appears so to me." Many of the classic conversations between the great men of Greece took place over the dinner table, as for instance, "The Dinner Party of the Seven Sages." It's a far cry from this festal board to the drug store counter over which is shoved the parafine-wrapped sandwich and the bottle of milk. The old Greeks included cookery in Perhaps when the housekeepers begin to realize that what they call the drudgery of marketing, cooking and serving their meals not only has a bearing on the health of the family but may also turn the currents of romance for their children, they will count it not a drudgery but a cultural art to be mastered and practiced joyfully.

FALSECARDING.

BY ELY CULBERTSON, World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst.

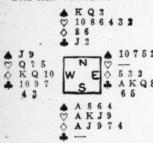

Falsecarding is not very much of an art, but it is an art that every player should practice sometimes. Otherwise he will gain the reputation of being absolutely wooden. If the opponents can believe every one of his plays their line of attack is frequently made much easier for them.

In the following hand the West of player was noted chiefly for the fact that every card he played was honest, and consequently when the critical moment in the hand occurred the declarer was not in very much doubt as to his proper play.

South, dealer.

1—North belongs to a school of players who believe that a no-trump response is weaker than a suit response, holding that the latter should not be made without at least 1.1-2 honor-tricks. Incidentally this theory is held by only a very few players, and these not soundly grounded in the theory of systematic bidding. 4—An underbid. Four hearts is the proper response.

5—East decides to enter the bidding since it is now fairly clear that the eventual contract will be in a suit.

6—South might make a forcing pass at this point but he knows the caliber of the East player and feels that no large penalty can possibly be obtained.

7—South finally comes to the conclusion that his partner holds at least 5 trumps. It seems as though for the slam.

8—Somewhat inexplicable, but East feels that he must try to mislead the declarer as to the location of the heart honor, if any.

The West player, for reasons best known to himself, decided to open a club. Obviously the king of diamonds would have defeated the contract immediately, but the club opening gave the declarer a chance. He ruffed the queen in his own hand and immediately laid down the ace of trumps. When East failed to follow suit he felt a slight shock, but the spades still offered an avenue of escape. The queen and king were played from the dummy and knave. If made by anyone addicted to falsecarding these plays would mean nothing, but this particular West opponent had never been known to falsecarding these plays would mean nothing, but this particular West opponent had never been known to falsecard in his life. South therefore did not have to stretch his imagination to play. He led the last spade from dummy and finessed the S-spot. West, of course, ruffed and he was unable thereafter to obtain any more tricks.

As my colleague Mr. William J. Thus would say, "Be wise as a serpent and harmless as a dove."

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE:

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE:

Frederick Von Weh is stabbed to death in his top floor quarters in an old studio building while Breut, head of an art firm. Mathewson, another artist, and Sprague. Von Veh's nephew, chat for three minutes outside his door after leaving him slone. In the clay hand of the status he has been modeling is a dagger, which Pana Marat, who has a restaurant in the basement, asys he loaned to a pretty model named Virginia. Manning Colby, Mathewson's fourth floor neighbor, has been trying to finish a panel for Breut's inspection. He is interrupted first by Von Veh's compilating of the noisy singing of four college youngsters, self-styled the Morons, in the studio beneath Manning: Then Virginia hounces in from the fire excape. She says sequarreled with Von Veh while posing for the noisy singing of the noising of the noising of the noisy. Manning goes to phone Breuth he won't be ready but Heart already has statted. Out the stars old Dan, the jain tor, tells Manning von Veh is dead and startles him by adding, "And you're the man that did it." Why, he doesn't know, but Manning tells Hrent in Dan's presence that he has been out only to dine at Marat's. Dan knows this. Papa Marat, once a roung newspaper correspondent, gets the murder story exclusively and sells it to a morning paper. Later Dan demands $2,000 as the price of his silence for a week, and Manning, in an anreasoning panic, pays him to get time to solve the mystery. Virginia saks Manning if she may see him slone. She convinces him of her innocence, Quirt leaves for a week at an artists' camp. "The Mole Hill." Manning comes on Marat in the cellar at night as Papa takes a dagger from the chimney. As they battle in the dark, a woman screams, Marat explains that he had two daggers alike. He surmises that the murderer dropped his blade into You Yeh's dismantled fireplace and that it fell down the chimney. Brent Mathewson and Manning surprise Marat as he unlocks Quirt's door. NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY. ginia.

Then he considered the matter of

"Oh," Manning said. Then again,
"Oh, then if there were any money coming to anyone anywhere, Sprague..." He paused to allow the realization to sink in, "'Why Sprague..."

"But he couldn't," Manning protested, "He couldn't. He was outside the door with Brent and Mathewson when it happened"

"That has been said before," Papa "That has been said before," Papa Marat remarked dryly. He seemed to be enjoying the bewilderment of Manning. "It has been said many times. And it is so. But you must admit, my dear sir, Sprague had a motive—that the dagger was left in his room that night—that he went to the basement for something yesterday. Take your choice between that and the Morons with their check!"

"Oh, I see!" Manning exclaimed, enlightened. "You told me yesterday you had a piece of information the police could not possibly possess. It was this letter,"
"It was not!" Papa Marat said.

The following morning Manning found a letter in his mailbox. It was written on cheap lined tablet paper, and in a sprawling illiterate hand. It read, "I feel like I ought to remind you that this is the fourth day. You only have three more." It was not signed. It was postmarked "Chicago." Evidently Dan, and perhaps the missing Goldine Pond, had betaken themselves to that city. Or perhaps they had stopped there en route. However, Dan's conscience seemed to be still in working order. He intended to report to the police in three days—per schedule. But then, if Dan knew anything concerning any suspicions that might touch Goldine, how would he dare hold this over Manning's head? He asked himself this question and then instead of answering, said to himself, "She profited by Goldine's breaking into thet mailbox. She had a letter in her bag. The day after the murder, she dropped it on the floor at my feet—she didn't offer to explain it to me."

She being not Goldine, but Virginia.

Both Manning and Mathewson shook their heads.

"Was Quirt well acquainted with Von Veh?" he asked.

Again they shook their heads and Mathewson said. "No, Quirt didn't have much to do with other men in the building. Von Veh himself was pretty much of a hermit—never interested in newcomers. I shouldn't be surprised if he had never met Quirt though they were across the hall from each other."

She being not Goldine, but Viriania.

Then he considered the matter of Sprague's connection with the darger, and put to himself the question as to what Sprague's errand to the basement had been. Was he in search of the dagger or were there perhaps some papers? To this question, he replied, "She went to the basement after or something. She was in a hurry to get it. She says it wasn't the dagger. Does she know of that money? But what connection could she have with it? What was her quarrel with Von Wer?" He then inquired of himself, "What will happen if Dan does report to the police what he knows of my doings that night?" And to this question, she will happen if Dan does report to the police what he knows of my doings that night?" And to this pay doings that night?" And to this swer his own questions intelligently, and told himself that since there was nothing else to be done on that particular morning, he might as well work.

keys. He was laboring with the lock.

"What do you think you're doing?"
Brent inquired, indignantly.
Papa Marat answered without turning his head or ceasing his manipulations. "It is my impression, my dear sir," he said, "hat this thing I told in the man's room when he is away?" Brent demanded.
Papa Marat selected another key from his pile and proceeded to poke it into the lock, remarking, "There are only three persons who would think of entering a man's room when he's away, and going through his private papers—a woman who's in love with him, a police detective or a newspaper man. Good! The key fits."
He rose and opened the door with a flourish. "Will you gentlemen come in?"
The gentlemen would. Now that the door was open they forgot all ethical objections.
None of them had been in Quirt's studio before. It was not a particularly attractive studio. It was almost as barren as Von Veh's. There was just a couch, two chairs, a lot of very large canvasses, such as one might use for panels or for the carnival work it was said Quirt did, and on an easel a canvas on which was a sort of tentative sketch.
Papa Marat studied the canvas thoughtfully. "I don't know much about art." he remarked. "But I'd say this thing was hardly more than blocked out. It twould hardly be finished enough for a criticism, would it?"

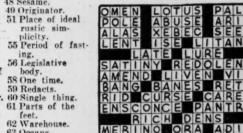

"May dear sir. I am deducing mothing." Papa Marat replied as he wandered aimlessly about the room. "Have you heard me offer a suggestion when this thing has been discussed? One thing a newspaperman learns is to hold his tongue. As far as this crime is concerned, I'm an agnostic. I know nothing."

As he spoke he opened Quirt's wardrove for panels or for the carnival work it was said Quirt did, and on an easel a canvas on which was a sort of tentative sketch.

NEW YORK, June 16 .- (AP)-The stock market was crowded with crosscurrents today and price movements were correspondingly erratic, but its ability to advance at times contrasted with Thursday's heavy sag. One of these rallies occurred in the last half with Thursday's heavy sagthese rallies occurred in the last half hour and the closing average was slightly-higher.

Wall Street learned overnight that the treasury had denied London's rumors of dollar stabilization around $4.05; also, congress finally adjourned. These two items of news could hardly be ignored by bullishly inclined traders and the market advanced with some zest in the early trading. However, gains of 1 to 3 points were more than lost before noon and prices thereafter backed and filled until the later dealings, when the trend again swung upward. Net changes, as a rule, were small. Turnover reached 5,728,256 shares.

United States Steel, Bethlehem, Al-

rule, were small. Turnover reached 5,728,256 shares.

United States Steel, Bethlehem, Allied Chemical, Chrysler, Montgomery Ward, Standard Oil of New Jersey, Woolworth, du Pont and Consolidated Gas were up major fractions to a point at the finish. Case and Union Pacific bogged down a bit; net changes in most rails were meager. American Telephone came back about 3 points and Homestake bobbed up 5, but those gains were exceptional.

The dollar resumed its fall, which was accepted as a natural reaction to the subsidence of recent reports as to a definite stabilization level.

Commodities were unsettled much of the day as they awaited exposition of the department of agriculture's plans for process taxes or acreage centrol. Cotton, however, rallied briskly when stocks took their final rise and closed with gains of 90 cents to $1.40 a bale.

And closed with gainst and closed with gainst state-ment, on the basis of reports already at hand, should show a liberal rise over last year, amounting, perhaps, to 50,000 cars.

ousness over Secretary Wallace's plans for quick maximum process plans for quick maximum process taxes and acreage reduction led to heavy selling and lower prices in the wheat market today.

Wheat values plunged downward at one time to more than 5 cents under the top figures of Tuesday, when the season's highest level was attained. Weakness of the wheat market was in the face of reported severe crop damage in South Dakota and unfavorable crop advices also from North Dakota and Montana.

The close for wheat was un-

The close for wheat was unsteady, 5-8 to 1 1-4 under yesterday's finish; corn 7-8 to 1 1-8 down, oats 1-8 to 3-8 off, and provisions showing 10 to 15 cents decline. Corn and oats ruled lower with wheat, despite an improvement of shipping demand here for corn. Provisions responded to grain weakness and to an increase of more than 18,000,000 pounds in Chicago

LATE RALLY AIDS SHARES ON CURB

By BERNARD S. O'HARA.

NEW YORK, June 16.—(P)—The curb market was erratic today with alternate rallies and reactions. The list turned upward at the close to reduce numerous losses and establish net advances of fractions to 2 points in many of the leaders.

in many of the leaders.

Aluminum Company of America, after sagging more than 2, crased its loss and established a net advance of 1 1-2 points. Deere and Company, fairly steady most of the session, was up nearly 2. Dow Chemical gained a point. Swift and Company and A. O. Smith showed fractional declines.

Oils followed closely on the heels of the general market; Humble re-covered a 3-point loss, but Gulf lost a point.

Among utilities Electric Bond & Share snapped back to show a slight gain for the day. Commonwealth & Edison advanced 1 3-4 points while Columbia Gas & Electric preferred gained 3. American Gas & Electric was off a fraction at the close. Consolidated Gas of Baltimore sagged 11-2 points. Newmont recovered 2 points of yesterday's sharp drop of 7 points while Pioneer Gold was up 1 1-2.

NEW YORK, June 16.—(P)—Cotton gained more than $1 a bale today in a session of irregular price swings. The general market closed steady at net advances of 19 to 28 points. Initial prices were 12 to 19 points higher on covering and commission house buying promoted by relatively firm Liverpool cables.

July sold from 9.08 to 8.91 and De-cember from 9.48 to 9.30, but this evidently attracted an increased de-mand and the late advance was stim-ulated by firmness in the stock mar-ket. P S 6s 2026 A. 794 781 79

July sold up to 9.13 and December to 9.51, making new highs for the day in the late trading and closing quo-tations were within a point or two of the best.

Except for complaints of drouta conditions in some sections of Texas, today's weather and crop advices were considered generally favorable.

A disposition to even up commitments in anticipation of an early official announcement on acreage control measures, was believed responsible for the midday irregularity.

NEW YORK, June 16.—(P)—Renewed weakness of secondary rail loans unsettled the bond market today and prices in all categories drifted to lower levels.

As in the previous session, the trading values contracted on the de-trading volume contracted on the de-cline. Sales totaled only $12,517,000, par value, against $14,467,000 yester-day. The average for 60 domestic corporate issues lost six-tenths of a United States government securi-

United States government securities and highest grade corporation loans were fairly steady.

Carrier issues off 1 to around 3 points included some of Alleghany Corporation, Baltimore & Ohio, Missouri Pacific, N. Y. Central, Nickel Plate, Pennsylvania, Southern Pacific and Wabash.

Bonds of International Telephone and Postal Telegraph rallied a point or more and improvement was shown by issues of U. S. Rubber, United Drug, Sinclair Oil and some others. Losses of 1 to 2 or more points were suffered by loans of American & Foreign Power, American I. G. Chemical, Certain-teed, Chile Copper, Loew's, Mead Corporation, Revere Copper and Western Union.

Most foreign obligations were renetionary. Some of the South American were especially heavy, issues of Argentina, Brazil, Chile and Colombia losing 1 to around 4 points. Bonds of Germany and Japan sagged 1 to

U. S. RAILS VALUED AT$21,241,711,081

WASHINGTON, June 16.—(R)—
The nation's railroads were estimated today to be worth at going prices approximately $21,241,711,081. proximately $21,241,711,081.

This figure was computed from figures issued by the valuation bureau of the interstate commerce commission on which the commission is expected to base its decision in the rate study it over heavily.

pected to base its decision in the rate study it now has under way.

The commission is considering the question of whether freight rates shall be reduced throughout the country.

On their books as of December 31, 1932, the railroads carried a total valuation of $26,091,310,739. This figure is slightly less than the original cost of building the roads, including purchase of land and working capital as estimated by the commission. This figure was $26,232,019,220.

The value of the carriers was computed on the following basis: Spot prices (current prices of materials) gave a figure of $16,858,547,204 for cost of reproduction less depreciation. To this figure was added $3,032,799,826 cost of land, $338,854,000 for 826 cost of land, $338,854,000 for working capital, and 5 per cent as a going value, bringing the total to $21,-241,711,081. Actual cost of reproducing the railroads new was estimated at $23,742,possible was estimated at $25,142,-958,869 at current prices. Based on average prices over the period from 1929 to December 31, 1932, the cost except land would be $23,953,546,235.

Using the same method of computation as that from which the $21,241,-711,081 figure was derived, it was estimated that eastern railroads are worth approximately $9,789,907,500; southern railroads $3,673,841,891, and western railroads $8,555,556,593.

Pennsylvania to Retain Rail Stock Holdings

PHILADELPHIA, June 16.—(A)mmission, the United States circuit court of appeals today gave the Pennsylvania Company, and the Pennsylvania Railroad Company the right to retain their holdings of $67,590.000 in Wabash railway stock, and $18,-251,850 of Lehigh Valley railroad stock

These amounts represent $100 par value of 312,000 shares of Wabash preferred A stock and 362,900 shares of its common, and 365,030 shares of Lehigh Valley preferred at $50 par, which the Pennsylvania Company ac-quired in 1927 and 1928. uired in 1927 and 1928.

In December, 1930, the I. C. C. In December, 1930, the I. C. C. ordered the two companies to divest themselves of the Wabash and Lehigh Valley shares, claiming their acquisition violated the Clayton anti-trust law, and also because the holdings reputedly gave the Pennsylvania corporations the opportunity to lessen competition with two of its competitions.

the Pennsylvania Company acquired the stock, the real owners was the Pennsylvania Railroad Company.

Trade Review Notes Continued Upturns

NEW YORK, June 16.—Continuing its for-ard movement, business has so far given indications of the usual seasonal slack-ing, said the Dun & Bradstreet Review

Reports received by the agency this weel Reports received by the agency this week "emphasized increasing employment and advancing wages, with plans of summer closing abandoned, as orders make necessary a further widening of schedules," many industries are booked well into early fall.

"The almost unbroken continuity of the broadening of the advance precludes the influence of the inflationary measures as the sole impetue, as the rapid sequence of supporting commercial developments has allowed no gap for retardative factors to exert their power." the review said.

Readings in Nature Lore.

Louis Agassiz, who was one of the finest naturalists ever to work in North America, had a valuable method of teaching. His custom was to give ach student a fish, or a bird, or a lizard and say to the prospective zoologist, "Look at this specimen carefully. Make notes of what you see. When you think you have noted every thing of importance, bring me your notes." And very frequently the student was told to go and look again the fore his powers of observation were sharpened to the point of real actuards. It would be excellent if you who are interested in nature could study by this method. It is necessary, however, only for the trained naturalist, and is entirely too detailed a method for anyone else. And while Agassiz is credited with having said "study nature, not books," I interpret this dictum as meaning study pertiant only to trained scientists.

Books are the most valuable esources of information to everyone except those on the frontiers of research, and even those workers must learn from libraries what is already known before carrying on their own studies. Wheth-

ARKANSAN CLAIMS

U. S. PEN PAROLE COST HIM $40,000 It costs just $40,000 to get paroled only $500 to be paroled from the Arkansas penitentiary.

Herring is being tried on a charge of possessing liquor for sale in the Arkansas city and when questioned by Judge Sam H. Wood about his previous record, said he had been in the federal penitentiary here in 1929. He was released on parole in 1931, records show. Officials here said they know nothing of Herring and his properties.

WASHINGTON, June 10.

WASHINGTON, June 10.

Though weary from the strenuous session of congress just ended, members ove of the Georgia delegation, with only a few exceptions, are planning to remain over in Washington for an indefinite period clearing up accumulated business before returning to their homes in the state.

Representative Robert Ramspeck, of Atlanta, and Representative Homer of Atlanta, and Representative Homer of Statesboro, are the only maker, of Statesboro, are the only many than the state.

YOU will be able to pay for it without big iump payments coming due at one time. Investigate by calling D. W. Watson, WA. 0812 1110 Standard Bidg.

A MARMOTA MANAX.

C. E. Kemp, of 340 Candler street, N. E., made an interesting capture Friday. As he left his home, he noticed a small furry animal running across the street, and thinking it was a young opossum, he decided to catch it. He attracted the beast's attention and dexterously picked it up by the tail. It was not an opossum, and Mr. Kemp was somewhat puzzled by the catch he had made. It turned out to be a young specimen of woodchuck, or ground hog.

While most ground hogs turn out to be a typical specimen of Marmota monax. Usually these animals are found in open fields away from the
